Join the OnPath Foundation for a morning of insight, inspiration and impact. The Pathmakers Spark Series celebrates pathmakers who light the way for others — and every seat and sponsorship fuels the Foundation's work in education, entrepreneurship, homeownership and community investment.

MORNING KICKOFF

Lauren Haydel

Founder, Fleurty Girl

A New Orleans native, Lauren started Fleurty Girl in 2009 with $2,000 as a single mom of three. Six months later she opened her first Oak Street shop and moved her family into the back to make it work. Today the brand has multiple stores and 70+ employees.

LUNCH KEYNOTE

Sidney Torres, IV

Owner & President, IV Waste

A New Orleans native and serial entrepreneur, Sidney renovated his first shotgun houses at 20. After Hurricane Katrina, he launched SDT Waste and Debris Services and cleaned up the French Quarter. He has since developed more than $250 million in real estate, backed local businesses through IV Capital and starred in CNBC's The Deed.

About the OnPath Foundation

Fueling opportunities for economic mobility and empowerment.

The OnPath Foundation fuels opportunities for economic mobility and empowerment. From financial education to career readiness, we invest in the people and programs that shape a stronger, more equitable future for all. Our work stands on four pillars. Each one opens a door — and together they help families build lasting stability, one step at a time.

Education

Financial literacy in classrooms and scholarships that open doors.

Entrepreneurship

Helping small business owners turn ideas into income.

Homeownership

Grants and workshops that help first-time buyers get the keys.

Community Investment

Volunteers and partners showing up where it matters most.

Why the Spark Series matters

The Pathmakers Spark Series brings these pillars to life. It puts proven leaders in a room with the next generation of builders — and every dollar raised goes back into Foundation programs that change lives across Southeast Louisiana.
